Wake Up, Bassano!

It is evident that Bassano's progress (we almost said stagnation) with the Victory Loan Campaign is causing a great deal of comment in the Province, much of which is decidedly unsatisfactory.

Of course it was hardly to be expected that our contribution would be equal to last year's grand total for it has been far from a profitable year in the district, but in spite of all that the response to the call of our country is nothing like equal to what could have been if only our people realized not only the obvious necessity but, also, the obvious wisdom of subscribing to the Loan.

Opportunity is made very easy for every person in the district to take a small portion of the loan, and the exceptionally good investment qualities of the loan itself makes it an easy way of performing a solemn duty.

Every man and woman could buy a bond under the very easy terms offered by the government and by the banks, and it goes without saying that every person should buy bonds when those bonds, if subscribed for by all, mean a continuation of Canada's era of prosperity.

It is a personal matter with every individual for we all prosper or suffer directly or indirectly with the prosperity or depression of the country.

Bassano's objective is still to be gained but it only needs a little of the old time spirit to put us over the top and among the honored towns of the Province.

Chautauqua

The visit of Chautauqua is now a thing of the past, but the memory of the three big days with their six splendid programs will live for a long time in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to be able to attend them.

It is only necessary to state that Bassano has contracted for a six day summer Chautauqua next year and it will be understood how greatly the festival has appealed to the people of the town and district.

A census of opinion gives Capt. Wood Briggs and the Venetian Trio first place in the appreciation of the audience while there is a bewildering variety of opinions as to the merits, etc., of the other programs.

A noticeable improvement in the arrangement of the programs has been made, and though criticism could yet be offered, Chautauqua has undoubtedly made a great hit with the majority of our people.

Not the least attractive feature of the Festival was the very able superintendent Miss Coleman, who in a great measure was responsible for much of the success financial and otherwise which attended the efforts of the committee.

Agricultural Society Meeting

An important meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held on Tuesday November 26th when addresses will be given by Archie Mitchell of Coaldale, J. H. Fryer of the Dominion, Seed Laboratories, and G. M. Stewart, District Seed Inspector for Alberta and B.C.

These gentlemen are all practical and scientific agriculturists and the subjects of the addresses will be of interest to all. Meeting opens at 1.30 p.m. sharp.

Admit Germans to Labor Conference

Washington.—Germany and Austria are to be admitted to the international labor organization, "with the right and obligations possessed by other members."

A recommendation to this effect from the organization committee was adopted by the labor conference with but one dissenting voice.

The debate was spirited and prolonged, but the motion to admit an independent and under the closure rule. The vote for admission stood 71 to 1, the one vote being that of Louis Guérin, French employer's delegate. There was also one abstention. Canada's French employer's delegate, did not vote either way.

The Belgian government delegates voted for admission, not, as they understood it, because they wished to admit the Germans, but because of economic necessity.

The four Canadian delegates all voted for the motion to admit. On the previous motion to approve closure, however, Mr. Guérin, French employer's delegate, and Mr. Draper, workers' delegate, voted against the motion.

The two Canadian government delegates, Mr. Joseph and Mr. A. J. Hays, who were substituting for Mr. Robertson, voted for it. The vote on the closure motion stood: For, 65; against, 10.

The attitude of the Canadian delegation toward the admission of the Germans was determined at a meeting of the delegation held prior to the debate on the conference.

The question was thoroughly discussed and all statements were in the recommendation of their organizing committees on the main ground that, from the economic point of view, it was essential that German industry should be brought within the scope of the restrictions laid down in the labor contract to the League of Nations covenant.

Future Depends on Navy
London.—Speaking at the Navy League of Canada's Annual Meeting of Admirals, Mr. J. L. Lomax, president of the League, said that while the country had been told to look to new forms of protection, it was in the shadow.

The peaceful future of the world is inseparably associated with the policy the country is going to pursue with regard to her naval forces.

Werner Horn Defeated
Fredericton, N.B.—Werner Horn was found guilty on the charge that he dynamited the Canadian end of the international bridge at St. Croix, N.B., on February 2, 1915. The jury was out only 13 minutes. Horn, who was a Canadian, was a German and was acting under orders of the German government in war time.

Labor Maintenance Sum Owning

Denominations Paying Interest Which Would Be to State's Advantage in Future

London.—In the house of commons Col. J. G. L. Simonds, chairman of a committee for the Canadian dominions and the war office £50,000 for the maintenance of troops in the field.

"We do not now anticipate receiving more than fifteen million pounds in the present year," said Mr. Churchill, "owing to financial difficulties there, but the remainder was a perfectly good debt, which the dominions were paying interest and which would roll forward for the state's advantage in future years."

Aliens Deported

Men Were Held in Internment Camp and Sent Back to Canada on October 27

Winnipeg.—Ten of the aliens arrested in this city during the riots of June 19 have been deported, according to information received here. The men had been held in the Kapuskasing internment camp since they were sent back from Canada on October 27. One man who had been arrested at the same time, a Russian, who had served four years overseas with the 51st Battalion, is still the internment camp in the world in this respect, it was stated.

Canada is one of the best situated countries in the world in this respect.

The attitude of the Canadian delegation toward the admission of the Germans was determined at a meeting of the delegation held prior to the debate on the conference.

The question was thoroughly discussed and all statements were in the recommendation of their organizing committees on the main ground that, from the economic point of view, it was essential that German industry should be brought within the scope of the restrictions laid down in the labor contract to the League of Nations covenant.

France and Britain Are Again Trying to Bring About Settlement of Problem

Paris.—Efforts of France and England to bring about a solution of the Latin-American difficulties over the settlement of the Fiume problem, according to the Liberte.

The newspaper reports that the foreign office of the French government is inclined and that the response of the State Laying is in the negative.

Denis Clemanceau received Foreign Minister Titton.

Melting of Coins

Order Making Illegal Breaking Up Of Silver Coin Currency

London.—Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons today that an order has been issued making it an offense to melt down silver coins or to melt silver coins.

The export of British silver coins is prohibited and steps are being taken to prohibit the export of silver coins except under license.

The situation, the chancellor said, is being carefully watched and he hoped further action would be necessary.

Bratton's Final Aid to Deakin

London.—In defending the annual expenditure, Secretary for War Churchill announced that the cabinet had approved a final contribution of the surplus stores to General Deakin, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Russia, who had been a member of the committee, he added, was approximately £15,000,000 sterling, and it would be dispatched during the winter.

Drury is Chosen Premier of Ontario

Toronto.—E. C. Drury is to be the next premier of Ontario, succeeding Sir William Hearst. Mr. Dray was the unanimous choice of the Farmers of Ontario and Labor representatives in the new legislature, at a joint conference at the U.F.O. headquarters.

It is understood that the meeting was very secret and that there was an indication of the two groups pulling together in the house, though both the U.O.F. and Labor will retain their group feature to a considerable extent.

Premier-elect Drury said that the two groups had practically completed, that all the portfolios had been allocated, and that the government would be ready on short notice to take over the reins from Sir William Hearst.

As far as the Ontario Farmers go, as far as it has been definitely agreed upon in an address given by Mr. Drury after his selection. In this address, Mr. Drury said one of the first acts of the new government would be to carry out the mandate of the people of the province on prohibition, as declared in the recent referendum vote, and Mr. Drury expressed his hope that in complete accordance with this mandate, the U.O.F. had waged war on special privilege, and this policy would be continued, he said:

He intimated that the new government would not stand for any class legislation.

In his address, Mr. Drury said he had been placed in a position which he do not, however, entertain any fears regarding this situation," he said.

"It is true we may be lacking in experience, but the situation is not one which calls for the fine arts of the political," he said.

The new leader added: "It is too early to speak of our legislative program. We have not yet organized our party to form a government, and it would be unwise to participate. We can, however, lay down certain broad principles which must and should govern us in the matter. One of these in the past has been waged on special privilege."

"We are not at this time going to abandon the principle of justice and fair play which have caused us in the past.

He was called to give his opinion on what the new government should do to carry out the mandate of the people of the province on prohibition, as declared in the recent referendum vote, and Mr. Drury expressed his hope that in complete accordance with this mandate, the U.O.F. had waged war on special privilege, and this policy would be continued, he said:

He intimated that the new government would not stand for any class legislation of whatever kind. Our legislative program must be framed for the benefit of every just and honest and legitimate interest in the province. If in the course of time such a program, the majority and dissentient parties in the way, so much the worse for the latter."

Alleged Evasion of Immigration Law

Claim that Hutterites Get Into Canada By Automobiles

Winnipeg.—Findings it is difficult to get into and out of the United States by automobile, Hutterites, if illegal, are trying to outwit the immigration authorities by entering automobiles. Report to this effect were made at a meeting of the central branch of the Grace Valley Hutterites' association, with a result that a resolution was unanimously passed calling the attention of the federal government to the matter and asking it to take steps to see to it that the regulations prohibiting the entry of Hutterites into Manitoba were not evaded in what was described as this acute way.

Buy an Irrigated Farm

From the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, no oscillation, but EVERY YEAR.

Irrigation makes possible the raising of a variety of crops, the large-scale raising of stock, new dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means insurance, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway irrigation block is no new experiment. For years it has been tried here, and has absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land we receive.

Managing Editor: E. G. Allen

It was only to be expected that considerable opposition would arise from the old line parties when an outsider ventured to trespass on their preserves but we are glad to notice that the new farmers' party did not steal any of the old party plaudits and commence its campaign by pratting about the sacred principles of democracy etc; that we have learned by heart from listening so often to the old fashioned party ticks.

It's tough luck on democracy to be dragged through the mire and filth of party politics as it has been for the past decade or so but it has, nevertheless, survived the ordeal and seems to be now stretching its limbs preparatory to a determined onslaught against party privilege and privileged interests.

We do not think that the farmer's party as it stands to-day is a champion of democracy, as the town is generally understood but we do believe that it will, when returned to power, as it will be very shortly) have greater sympathy with and keener insight to the problems of the masses.

There are radicals in their ranks who would very soon legislate humanity and business out of existence, (our friend from Queenstown is a glaring example of the kind of man we mean) but the bulk of farmers who are eligible and, we hope, ambitious for election are men of sound principles and moral sense.

In choosing their men for candidacy the farmers elect men who are more famous for their words than works we can hand over the government to them with confidence.

But heaven help the farmers and the country if the men chosen as representatives are spinebenders or windys and to whom honest toil and labor is anathema (as they will be to the party) for they will run amok and in very little time will land the country on the scrap heap.

We need men with brains not tongues, and above all men with conviction and strength not only to do what is right but also to leave what is good enough alone.

Are you an Asthenope?

Quite possible you do not understand the question. You do not will ask the question. "What is Asthenope?" and how may I know if I am a sufferer? I am a sufferer. I am a sufferer. I will tell you, your suffering, was the direct result of eye weakness, and advised immediate attention given them by a qualified Optometrist, you, no doubt, were not so fortunate as to find one near you, and the eyes and the brain, you know, fast, that the eyes and the brain are organs that help to make the great human machine that God has created. Asthenope is derived from the Greek word Asthene; meaning weakness; without strength; and the name of weakness of the eyes, produced by an excessive effort on the part of those unfortunate sufferers of eye exertion, usually of small degree, to overcome the lack of vision which eventually results in a general debility and inability to do an breaking down of the nervous system of the eye. Asthenope is indicated when frontal headache occurs, when the print blur, and the words run together. The person may close his eyes, and, after reading, sometimes his eyes will be sore for short time, when the phenomena will again recur. Sometimes actual pain will be felt in one or both eyes, that become more and more acute as the eyes are forced to strain. In some cases, the sufferer finds this condition after he has seen the Power of the Optometrist, the man who knows; and guarantees results.

A Very Bad Mistake.

The Mail last week made a very grave charge against the elevator companies which proves to be entirely unfounded and we hasten to extend our apologies together with an explanation which we trust will entirely remove any doubts as to the integrity of the grain companies.

The price of wheat is not, as has been generally understood, a fixed price for the whole Dominion, but is based upon a price at Fort William which is automatically reduced by freight rates west of that point. In other words, the price of wheat set by the wheat Board at Calgary or Medicine Hat mills is not the same as at Fort William but is reduced by the amount of freight from those points.

As a matter of fact the elevators and mills have no say in the matter; whatever for the price is set entirely by the Wheat Board.

In justification for our regrettable error we would state that the information which formed the basis of the article was given to us over the phone in answer to certain questions put to one of the elevator men who misinterpreted our questions. His answers have since been explained, to our complete satisfaction, in an entirely different light.

We regret the excessive terms employed in our article and to remove any further misunderstanding we state herewith that the sole purpose of our article was to discover the truth and not to cause the grain companies and the elevator men embarrassment.

We would also like to acknowledge the courteous replies given us by the companies concerned; in spite of the fact that we have done them a great injustice by our article, and we trust that our statement to-day will more than offset the impressions given by our previous and obviously incorrect article.

Finally we beg to withdraw, without the slightest reservation, the remarks made as to the honesty of business methods employed by the grain companies and to extend again our sincere regret for the entire incident.

How to take the H.C.L. out of clothes buying for fall

Clothes are higher priced; all of them—good or bad. The poor ones cost about the same as the good ones—not much difference any more.

Here's some good advice; take it from us; don't try to "beat the game," and pay the lowest price; you'll get poor quality; the clothes won't last; and your "high cost of Clothing" will go up several notches.

Here's the right way: get good quality; pay for it; the wear and service you get saves for you and reduces the H.C.L.

Society Brand Clothes do it; they're made to give wear, satisfaction or your money back.

HUSBAND SAVES WIFE

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused me to have fits and headaches. A friend called my attention to the advertisement and I learned that my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused me no more than a twinge of pain. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 260 Knapp St., N.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

What I suffered from was of weakness, as indicated by displacements, rheumatism, ulcerations, irregularities, backaches, headaches, fits, or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's endorsement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a through trial.

For forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have any further complications, write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicines Co., Lynn, Mass.

Co-operation In Politics Predicted

The following article is an interesting prediction as to the solution of the political situation, by an independent, but close student of political matters:-

The situation in the Ontario elections, as I recently have aroused Dominion-wide interest. Much conjecture prevails as to the ultimate outcome of the group of parties elected which will necessitate a re-alignment politically before a stable Government can be formed.

The success of the Farmers' party, whereby they secured the largest group numerically, at once puts that party in a leading position and entails upon it the responsibility of government. There should be no valid reason why party should not call to its aid support from other groups, and organize a Government to work on the lines of the party. There is a great deal, for instance, between the views of the average Farmers' member and the average small town constituency, and the Liberal party, for a similar cause riding. The Provincial Legislature is a magnified county council, and, aside from extreme or fanatic members, sufficient to carry to a stable progressive government should not be difficult to secure.

One feature, however, that may tend to prevent getting together on the part of the Liberal and Farmer members is the attitude assumed during the contest by Hartley, Dewar, K.C., the Liberal leader. There was no justification for his attacks on the Farmer candidates. They had every right to run. The Farmers, as a whole, represented Liberal and democratic viewpoints, and the results at the polls indicated that the people upheld their entrance into the political field. In these circumstances it was found to divide the Liberal party, and to create division as between them.

Following the Ontario results, and of more particular interest in the West, is the result of the Federal by-elections, which were contested between Hon. W. R. Motherwell, who was overwhelmingly defeated by O. R. Gould, the Grain Growers' candidate. These contests should serve as a warning to the people of the West of a policy of reform and fair taxation, low tariff and progressive government, of the lack of wisdom displayed in dividing the forces of those who are united in main principles.

A Health-Building Food Grape-Nuts

A blend of wheat and barley prepared to digest easily and make and keep people strong.

"There's a Reason"

In Assiniboin, Mr. Gould has for years been an active supporter of the same principles and policies as those contended for and upheld by Mr. Motherwell. During the past ten years Mr. Gould has been a most ardent champion in behalf of the Provincial Government of Saskatchewan, of which Mr. Motherwell was a member. In 1911, Mr. Gould was an ardent supporter of the "Redeemers," of which Mr. Motherwell was a foremost exponent. For these reasons alone Mr. Motherwell's action in opposing him was not justified, but even had Mr. Gould been previously a Conservative, and had changed his views, he would still have been a man, the defeated candidate would still have been wrong in contesting the seat in view of the political sentiments which existed favoring the Grain Growers' policy and political movement.

The strength and showing of the United Farmers' movement in the East came as a surprise to all. In the Canadian Provincial party, the Farmers, who were thoroughly organized, had had greater experience in political affairs, and bids fair to make every bit as great if not a greater, showing than in the East. The Farmers, who are, with fidelity it is to divide the forces in the West largely because a very small minority of old-time Liberals will not, for purely partisan reasons, co-operate with the new Farmers' party. There are some groups of these old-time partisans in the East and West, who, largely for personal reasons, and principally because the Farmers' cause and the new party, refuse to co-operate. The grain and filet Liberals, farmers or otherwise, should not tolerate this dictation or allow candidates to be put forward upon them because of these few.

The overwhelming mass of Liberals and Farmers in the West see eye to eye on many principles. Their forces should not be divided. Co-operation in the cause of democracy is plain common sense if results are to be achieved. The Prairie Province Provincial Governments and the great majority of the members of the Legislatures realize the facts and have no objection to co-operation. They realize that in three-cornered contests the reactionary forces may win out, since division of Liberal support ensures domination by the interests of Privilege. New Way of Selling Old Furniture in Paris

Second-hand furniture dealers in Paris have thought of a profitable scheme to sell their stocks to great advantage. A flat is rented in the apartment of a widow, who is filled with the finer pieces of furniture. An advertisement is inserted in the dailies that an elderly woman, widowed by the war, will sacrifice her family in order to get enough money to return to the country of her birth.

A buyer visits the flat, the woman shows a bookcase, the price is agreed upon, and the doors are opened a few of other articles are disclosed. The widow bursts into tears and explains that the books belonged to her son who left his studies to take arms and was killed two months ago in battle. The prospective buyer buys her out and to help her forget her grief pays double the price asked.

Bombers Lost On Way To Egypt

Seven Handley Page Machines Are Disabled on New Air Route.

In the British House of Commons Major H. M. T. T. Seeger, under secretary of state for air, declared, regarding the recent allegations that there had been a serious number of fatalities on the new air route to Egypt, that in the spring and early summer there had been an urgent demand from Egypt for airplanes of large size and endurance to cope with the critical situation there.

Owing to this urgent demand, the first four had been sent by Handley Page of Great Britain. Sixty-four Handley-Page airplanes were sent, of which 26 arrived safely. Seven were at various points on the route disabled, and fifteen had been destroyed. One machine had crashed, down badly and four lives were lost. There were three other bad accidents involving four fatal and three non-fatal injuries.

At the request of the chief of the air force, a special committee has been appointed to enquire into the matter.

The minister emphasized the fact that the choosing of this route had not been done with the best available information.

He said that at the present situation in Egypt had been critical.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next is wet and cold, and the third is cold and dry. In the Fall, when the weather is cool and the ground is wet, little ones are apt to catch colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tincture and Liniment will help to prevent colds.

They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowel and stomach free and sweet. They are especially good for colds, and when a cold comes on suddenly, the prompt use of the Tincture will often relieve the trouble. Baby's Own Liniment will relieve pain and stiffness, and will help to make the body supple.

Saskatchewan Farmers to Try for Honor at the Chicago Show

Visitors to the International Hay and Grain Exhibition to be held at Chicago in connection with the International Stock Show, November 29 to December 6, will have the opportunity of seeing some of the grain and other crops that are produced in Saskatchewan. The farmers in this province are arranging to send samples of wheat, oats, barley, rye and various grasses and vegetables.

Oats, barley and wheat are the chief crops of Saskatchewan. The grain and other crops are sent to market by the railroads.

Bad Breath? Don't Be Offensive Removes the Cause

Father Will Write, and Your Breath Will Soon Be Sweet and Pure

The bad breath of Bad Breath is the fact that nearly every case shows considerable trouble from indigestion, belching gas, bloating, piles or rectal trouble, and constipation. Or, there is not a plumply face, a sluggish, constipated condition is the true cause of bad breath.

By aiding digestion and building the weak muscles of the stomach and rectum, DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS completely overcome constipation and all forms of stomach trouble.

"I was terribly run down with stomach trouble that arose through a�es, and I was near death," said D. Quigley, from Washburn, P.O. "I simply couldn't half digest my food. I had to eat a great deal of raw, yellow, smelly skin. The effect of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS was phenomenal. I now have a clear skin, I eat well, sleep well, and my health is restored."

There is no need to be in failing health when one is so sure, so easy, to take DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS. Of course, the best treatment is to see a doctor, but DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS, at all dealers, REFUSE A SUBSTITUTE.

Filling His Own Shoes

BY HENRY C. ROWLAND

Copyright. Printed by special arrangement with Thos. Allen, Toronto.

Pembroke blew out a column of smoke and regarded his thoughts.

"Now, I'm admitted, you weren't particularly in the same class, from the European point of view. I happen to know something about the family. This Miss Chastell must be one of the Norfolk Chastells; all poor as Job, or Lazarus—or whatever it was that was poor. I suppose she'll be poor as Lucifer. The Westbrookes are an old country family, too. Chuck it all, my advice to you."

But Ruggles scarcely heard this advice, for he had just received a sudden inspiration that led him to his sudden thought that he had been hit like a bolt from the blue. It was a wonderful thought, and inspired by the disinterested kindness which had been so spontaneously offered him in the Westbrooke home. A modest and ill-treated dog had been similarly inspired by sympathy from the casual pedestrian; and it had happened that the dog had followed his protector home and later laid down its life, affording the family a final proof that the dog's allegiance had been offered. Ruggles leaned forward, his eyes bright and a flush on his cheek marks.

"Say, doctor, you're going out to the Balkans to work for the Red Cross. You can't take me with you, I don't know anything about the job, but I'd manage to make good."

Pembroke took his cigar from his lips, and his keen eyes first examined the eager blue ones looking at him, then ran over Ruggles's trim, well-made figure, lastly resting on the boy's flushed, carefree face. "Well, he must be pleased to have him, but he hesitated a moment before answering.

"Our corps—or at least my unit of it—is full," said he slowly. "There's not a vacancy in the corps, and the chief of disappointment that this statement produced, he added reflectively: "Still, it might be managed somehow, if you really want it so badly. I could take you on as my orderly."

"That's for me!" cried Ruggles. "There's trouble enough to be had for you," said Pembroke. "Small pay and a good chance of dying of fever or cholera, or possibly a piece of sharp metal. I fancy I'll be rather in the thick of things."

"Well, I'll have to get out a search warrant to find me, if you are," Ruggles answered.

"No—considering what I've seen of your methods, I don't believe I would."

"Say, doctor, I don't give a hoot about what I draw," said Ruggles eagerly. "I've got a little money, and I'll pay my own way out, if you like, and I want to get away from here and do something that's worth while."

"There's no trouble about either of those things," Pembroke answered. "But, you see, Ruggles, it would be a good idea if you served. You'd have to look after my things, and turn to at any time at any job that might happen to come along. How does that strike you?"

"I guess I can try my best all day long for any boy who wants a sample that comes into the shop, is isn't going to turn my stomach to clean the boots of a man like you," that's looking after wounded soldiers."

Pembroke laid down his cigar and leaned back in his chair.

"Well," said he, "in that case you're on. Meet me with your duffle at the Gare de Lyon at nine o'clock tonight."

CHAPTER X.

It was a bitter cold night in mid-winter, with a fierce gale driving in from the Black Sea. The trench stopped the rush no more than a ditch dug in the sand might stop the sound of a breaking wave.

All about the swamps of Derikos and on the raised line which divided the two armies, the Ottoman army was making its last stand.

There were no campfires, for there was little to burn and nothing to cook.

There was a dearth of everything, and the water, food, shelter, clothing, and worst of all, faith; the last a greater loss to the host of Islam than all the rest.

Plague-striken corps, rotted in stagnant pools; plague-striken soldiers, lovelorn in ditches to lay on the Prophet to relieve their distress. To some of these on the outer lines their God sent swift repose in scattering the ranks, in the darkness, in the blinding trenches when the moon burst from the black, billowing clouds and the flanking heights of the Istramis Dagh gave a sense of direction to the fire.

Not far behind the outer line was a little Turkish village, where had been stationed a caravanserai, and here in the end barricades Pembroke and Ruggles toiled and labored with the picket line, which had been strengthened by the men of the firing-line. In this improvised field hospital a few lives had been saved, and from its windows stream the only lights to the right and left, the dying rays which flashed across the sea from the coast light on Kara Burnu, which in peace or war must remain fixed and constant, without reference to the rise or fall of Islam.

There was a faint, dim sound of the firing-line, like Pembroke's bugle, and he delivered a verbal message. Pembroke lunged to Ruggles.

"The colonel's going to visit the outposts and wants me to go along," said he. "I've got to can it save my life, but I'll go along."

"How about it, and tell him I'm in your in my place. If you see many sick lying about, ask for a detail to bring them to the hospital. Pick out the ones that seem to have some show?"

"I'll do that," said Ruggles, and went into the court, where a shaggy pony was hobbled to a blated pomegranate tree in the shelter of the mud wall. He mounted and rode out, head held high, and fell in with Colonel Hamid Pasha and his staff, who were already in the saddle and about to start on their rounds.

"What's the matter?" asked the colonel, and turned to Ruggles.

"No, sir," answered Ruggles. "It's Doctor Pembroke's orderly. He couldn't leave, so he sent me in his place."

"Very well," said the colonel, and gave the order to march.

The little cavalcade turned to face the winter blast which swept down gaily and freezing cold from the snow-clad steppes. The outposts were visible in the dark, the outposts on the extreme left of the line, where the Turkish trenches were less than the distance of a pistol shot from those of the enemy.

The sentries were inspected, and the party was about to withdraw.

"Wait a minute," said Pembroke.

"I'm not a general," said Pembroke

Local and Personal.

Graham Bowles is visiting his sister Mrs. Liggett this week.

Secretary Carnegy left on Monday to attend the Convention of Municipalities at Edmonton.

Service will be held at the Anglican Church on Sunday next at 7.30 p.m.

Let's go boys—Bassano's objective is within reach—let's step out and get it.

Married: On Nov. 11th, Irving Hall Dodd of Jenner and Sarah Isabelle Dobinson of Jenner, by Rev. T. S. Paton.

Mrs. E. Mauer who has been staying at the Springfield Alberta farm since the spring, returned to her residence on Saturday for the winter months.

Messrs. Dick and C. Barlow left on Saturday to join a party of big game hunters and intend to spend a few weeks in the country north west of Rocky Mountain House.

S. T. J. Fryer, Deputy Vocational Officer for Ontario, stopped over at Bassano to visit his brother, L. Fryer, manager of the Imperial Oil Company on Wednesday.

Just a little pep, a little talk with your bankers, a little chat with the canvassers or the chairman of the local committee and everybody could buy a bond and put Bassano over the top.

Sambrook and Steel have installed a new lathe in their garage and are now equipped to undertake any work in connection with automobiles and tractors. These boys are progressive and a credit to the town.

Joseph Nathaniel "Gov." writes us from St. Paul de Metis to find out what is wrong with Bassano this year. He says that his town was the first to get an Honor Flag in Northern Alberta, but hopes old Bassano will not be the last on the list.

What's the matter with the Bassano district this year anyhow? It sure seems strange to find it lagging behind in such patriotic and commendable endeavor as supporting the Victory Loan.

A sale of more usual interest is advertised on page four of this issue. It concerns farmers, particularly those requiring good heavy work teams. Layzell's reputation is behind the sale and that means a square deal for everyone.

That was an awful bowler we made last week in connection with the freight charges in wheat. Built, of course, the best of us make mistakes at times and we hope our farmer friends will not be too disappointed when they find we were in the wrong.

A trip to India by means of over 100 Lime-Light Views. This lecture will be given in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, November 20th, at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Thomas Wilson, B.A. of Medicine Hat. Tickets Adults 50 cents, Children 25 cents. Be sure to be there.

The Sale of Work and Home Cooking held by the Ladies Altar Society last Saturday was an unqualified success, for which the members desire to thank everyone who by their support contributed, and also particularly for the use of the building in which the sale was held.

A special Thanksgiving service for the first anniversary of service will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Subject, "Victories of Peace." Special music will be rendered, consisting of a solo by Mrs. H. D. Powers and a male quartet. You are invited to come and take part in this patriotic service.
